

No, the donotcall law should NOT be weakened. AThose telemarketers need to understand that htere are millions of people on that list because we simply do not want them to call us.